PRINCE HENRY ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON AND CALLS ON PRESIDENT AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Scenes on the Way to the Capitol.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Prince Henry arrived in Washington at 10:20 this morning. He was met by Secre-aries Hay, Long and Count Quadri and two other attaches of the German Embassy. Ten minutes later he left for the White House.

TRIP ON THE TRAIN

WAS NOT FAST.
BALTIMORE, Feb. 24.—The train which is bearing Prince Henry of Prussia to the National Capital made an exceedingly slow run from Jersey City to Baltimore, but there was no desire to make time with it. The train left Jersey City at 1 o'clock and it was arranged to so time its run that it would not reach Washington until after 10 o'clock. The Prince retired shortly after the special began its journey across the State of New Jersey and it was after 7 o'clock when he arose. He breakfasted at 8 o'clock in his private car.

THANKED DELEGATES OF THE PRESIDENT.

He said he found himself very well, and thanked the President's delegates and the railway officials for the arrangements made for his transportation.

He expressed a desire to ride on an engine at some time during the journey through the country and it was arranged that he should do so at the outset of his Western tour later in the week.

The start was made so late that there were no crowds anywhere. In Maryland during the early hours of the morning some crowds gathered at the stations, but no stops were made.

The Prince's stay in Baltimore was necessarily brief. The train arrived at 9 and was met at the Union station by the Mayor and an escort of twenty four prominent citizens.

PRINCE WELL RECEIVED BY BALTIMORE PEOPLE.

Two hundred members of the various German singing societies were also admitted to the station, but none of the big crowd which congregated in the streets was allowed to approach the special train.

Prince Henry came out of his apartment in the rear of the long train and Mayor Hayes was presented to him.

As he stood upon the rear platform beside Dr. Von Lingen, the German Consul at this point, the Mayor made a warm speech of welcome and presented an engraved copy of the resolutions of welcome which have been adopted by the City Council. The Prince, in accepting this, thanked his and the people for their courtesy.

The chorus of singers then rendered several German patriotic songs and after a stay of twenty minutes the train pulled out amid the cheers of the crowds, which lined both sides of the track.

ARRIVAL OF THE PRINCE AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Prince Henry of Prussia and suite, accompanied by the welcoming delegations from Baltimore and the German Embassy, arrived here at 10:20 this morning, promptly on schedule time.

The trip from Baltimore to Washington was without incident.

In the outlying districts of Baltimore crowds gathered to greet and cheer the Prince as he passed.

No stops were made until this city was reached. The train was closely guarded by secret service men, with a care that will be exercised throughout its journey during the Prince's stay on American soil.

OCCUPIED HIS TIME IN DEMOCRATIC FASHION.

The Prince occupied the time during the run from Baltimore to Washington in a democratic fashion, talking freely with those about him as they discussed the country and details of his visit. He told the President's delegates that he will speed to see as clearly as possible cities through which he was to travel, and that as there would be some interest of the public seeing him as well, he thought it would be best to use open carriages in the driving portion of the itinerary everywhere. The delegates told him they were to arrange this.

ST. LOUIS WILL GREET PRINCE HENRY.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—Arrangements for the reception of Prince Henry in St. Louis have been practically completed. When the royal visitor arrives at Union Station on his special train Monday morning, March 3d, he will be confronted by the handsomest decorations that have ever been seen in St. Louis.

The grand hall on the second floor of Union Station has been selected for the scene of the official reception to the Prince.

There on the north side, not far from the main staircase, will be constructed

SOCIETY WOMEN FIGHT RUMMAGE SALES.

Do Not Believe They Are Good Things For the Community and Enter Protest
With Health Officer.

The physicians of Oakland are a unit in condemning rummage sales, but whether any action will be taken to insure their suppression by the machinery of the law remains to be seen.

At present the Board of Health is powerless to interfere with them for the reason that there is no law or ordinance covering the case. The members of the Board are frank, however, in saying that rummage sales are fruitful sources of contagious disease.

One physician points out that the recent outbreak of scarlet fever and diphtheria followed closely on the heels of a series of rummage sales. For awhile there was an epidemic of them. Nearly every church and charitable association in town had one or more. When the lull came there were sporadic outbreaks of scarlet fever and diphtheria in different parts of the city, due apparently to no direct cause.

The physician in question thinks infected clothing was sold at some of these sales, and in that way accounts for the appearance of scarlet fever and diphtheria in widely separated and apparently healthy neighborhoods at that time. It is agreed that the theory is probable.

When the matter was brought before the Board of Health there was considerable informal discussion of the subject which terminated as it began because the Board has no power in the premises. The opinion was expressed then that any move to suppress rummage sales would be opposed by the society ladies interested in church and charity work. But this does not appear to be the case.

Two well known society ladies who are actively engaged in charity work called on Health Officer von Adelung and assured him that they would lend their aid to the suppression of rummage sales. Their experience had convinced them that they are an evil and that they frequently disseminate seeds of contagious disease. These ladies said they had known clothing sent to rummage sales so filthy that it had to be taken out and burned. They had reason to believe that some of it was infected. Much of it was rubbish that had much better be sent to the crematorium.

"If any ordinance is passed to prohibit rummage sales it should apply to second hand stores and auction sales of personal effects," said Health Officer von Adelung. "There is no question of the danger to health involved in putting on the market cast-off clothing which nobody knows anything about, but the rummage sale differs only in degree and not in kind from the second-hand dealer. True, the rummage sale gathers crowds and the stuff sold is likely not to be as closely scrutinized as that passing through the hands of the second-hand dealer, but clothing may be good and apparently clean yet be teeming with disease germs. Doubtless people will send clothing to a rummage sale that they would not send to the second-hand store, but there is a menace in all second-hand clothing unless it be fumigated and subjected to some disinfecting process. The sale of cast-off garments should be regulated in some way to prevent infected clothing being distributed among the public. The trouble with the rummage sale is that it is a general clearing out of this class of material, and the character of the stuff is lost sight of in the respectability of those under whose auspices it is sold, and the worthy purpose to which the proceeds are to be devoted."

JOHN P. MAXWELL IS SUED FOR THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Three suits for damages in the sum of $30,000 each were brought in the Superior Court by Attorney George E. De Golia this morning against John P. Maxwell, the hardware dealer.

The suits were brought on behalf of Oscar Meyers, the auctioneer, Edward Meyers, his son, and Henry Marks, his clerk.

According to the complaint, Maxwell's mother-in-law, Mrs. Fred Schultz, purchased a house on Grove street from a Mrs. Wheeler. The latter had previously sold the furniture to Meyers, who sent his son and his clerk to the house for it. The latter were removing three doors that had been stored in the attic, when Maxwell appeared and caused their arrest for petty larceny.

Later, Maxwell went to Meyers's store and, the complaint charges, notwithstanding the fact that Meyers showed a bill of sale for the doors, caused his arrest on a similar charge.

No complaint was filed against Marks or the younger Meyers, but Oscar Meyers was charged with petty larceny, tried before Police Judge Smith and found not guilty.

Each of the three men arrested demand $10,000 damages and costs, and Oscar Meyers asks for an additional $20 which he paid Max Marcuse to defend him in the Police Court.

Mrs. Schultz is the wife of Fred Schultz, the well known capitalist.

TILLMAN NOT TO DINE WITH PRINCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The President has withdrawn his invitation extended to Senator Tillman of South Carolina to attend the dinner to be given tonight in honor of Prince Henry of Prussia at the banquet at the White House. It is said that this action on the part of the President was made necessary on account of the occurrences on the floor of the Senate Sunday, when the Senator from South Carolina was declared in contempt of the Senate. Senator Martin of Virginia, a member of the Committee on Naval Affairs, has accepted an invitation to Mr. Tillman's place. The invitation was extended originally to Mr. Tillman owing to the fact that he is the ranking minority member of the Naval Affairs Committee.

There was a sensational sequence to the decision of the President to eliminate Senator Tillman from the list of dinner guests. The President sent for Senator Cockrell of Missouri and asked him, as a friend and Democratic colleague of Mr. Tillman, to suggest to the latter the propriety of withdrawing his acceptance of the dinner invitation. The President explained his attitude in the matter and said that in view of the contempt proceedings, Mr. Tillman's presence would not only be an affront to the Senate, but a discourtesy to Prince Henry. Mr. Cockrell accepted the commission and later telephoned to the President that Mr. Tillman absolutely refused to withdraw his acceptance, in response to the President's suggestion.

The President immediately canceled the invitation in a note he dispatched direct to Mr. Tillman shortly before noon today. In this note, which was very brief and formal, the President said he regretted that he was obliged to withdraw the invitation. Simultaneously, Senator Martin of Virginia was invited to take Mr. Tillman's place at the dinner as the next ranking Democratic member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

WORK OF FIENDS AT CRIPPLE CREEK.

Place is in a State of Terror Because Assay
Offices are Blown Up With Dynamite.

VICTOR, Colo., Feb. 24.—Cripple Creek is in a state of terror owing to a premeditated attack upon assay offices doing business in the district. Beginning at 3 o'clock this morning and following in rapid succession, six explosions wrecked as many assay offices in Victor, Cripple Creek and Goldfield. The wreckers did not hesitate to jeopardize life as all but one of the buildings were also occupied by sleeping families. Men, women and children were hurled out of their beds by the shocks and serious injuries inflicted. The full extent of the damage cannot be estimated.

In this city the Davenport office was wrecked by two explosions, involving a loss of $1,200. Almost at the same time the assay offices of Vandervalk, Morgan and Williams were similarly destroyed.

The loss was approximately as large as at Davenport.

A miner was passing Williams' office at the moment of the explosion. Flying debris struck him in the face, gashing his eyes so badly that blindness may result.

In Cripple Creek Benjamin's assay office, located near the Florence and Cripple Creek depot, was blown up, but was only partially wrecked.

In the town of Goldfield, about a mile and a half north of here, almost simultaneously Boyce's and Swinehart's offices were blown up. Mrs. Boyce was blown out of bed, but escaped without fatal injuries.

A family near the assay office was also blown out of bed, but fortunately escaped serious injury.

The general impression here this morning was that the acts are the result of a general movement to rid the district of all institutions which buy high-grade ore in small quantities. The big mines of the district, it is alleged, have been systematically robbed of much rich ore, and fifty to one hundred assays, it is said, have made handsome profits by dealing in this ore. The mine owners also recently discovered that high grade ore was being shipped by assayers from the district to a smelter at Salt Lake and to the Selby Smelter at San Francisco, but all their efforts to stop the traffic were unavailing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—

An effort was made today to learn from the officers of the Selby Smelting Company whether it was true, as stated that ore from Cripple Creek had been sent to the works here. Secretary H. P. Underhill said he could not remember having received any shipments from Cripple Creek. He said it would require an examination of the books to learn whether there had been any such receipts, and that such an examination could be made if demanded by officers.

ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE.

SOCIETY YOUNG MAN MUST
DEFEND ON A CHARGE OF MURDER.

SAVANNAH, Mo., Feb. 24.—The case of Stuart Pile, charged with complicity in the killing of Frank Richardson, a well-to-do merchant, was called here today. Pile was a young society man and an associate with Richardson in business. Mrs. Addie B. Richardson, widow of the dead man, was charged jointly with Pile with the murder and in her trial last month the State endeavored to show that her alleged relations with Pile served as a motive for the crime. The jury acquitted Mrs. Richardson in half an hour. Pile, who was arrested at North Yuma, Wash., two months ago, is confident of being set free. He said: "I was nowhere near the Richardson home on the night of the murder and am innocent of the crime. The criminal is an outrage."

Frank W. Richardson was a brother of John D. Richardson of Chicago, manager of the National Biscuit Trust.

DIED OF HER BURNS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Mrs. Caroline L. R. Hall, N. J., who was burned in the Park Avenue Hotel fire Saturday morning, died today. She was 50 years of age.

THREE INJURED IN COLLISION

ACCIDENT OCCURRED AFTER THE PRINCE'S TRAIN
PASSED.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—A rear end collision between the Norristown accommodation train, due here at 5:18, and the Reading accommodation, due at 5:08 on the Philadelphia and Reading at Cosport, ten miles above this city, today, wrecked two cars and injured a number of passengers.

Three injured were brought to this city, and one, J. Coke, is said to be in a critical condition. Several injured were taken to hospitals near the scene of the wreck.

The Pennsylvania special bearing Prince Henry had passed a curve about a quarter of a mile east of Bristol, Pa., at 5 o'clock, jumped the track and was badly wrecked. Cars and wreckage were thrown over four other tracks and traffic was delayed for several hours.

BURNED TO DEATH.

KINGMAN, Arizona, Feb. 24.—John Gideon, aged 19, was cremated in a burning building here this morning. The fire was caused by a burning candle dropping through a miners candlestick.

BISHOP NICHOLS TO CONTROL

WILL GO TO HONOLULU TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE CHURCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Bishop Nichols, of the Diocese of California, has been appointed to go to Honolulu to accept on behalf of the Episcopal Church of the Hawaiian Islands the governing power of the Episcopal Churches of Honolulu and other parts of the Sandwich Islands. Until the present the Episcopal Church of Honolulu has been under the jurisdiction of the mother church of England.

When the Sandwich Islands were annexed to the United States a change in the governing power of the Episcopal Church at Honolulu was executed.

Not until Bishop Nichols arrives in Honolulu will that church come under the control of the Episcopal Church of the United States.

Bishop Nichols will make a complete report of the conditions of the Church and its members in the islands.

The ceremonies attending the transfer of the control of the Honolulu Diocese will no doubt be impressive. Bishop Nichols intends leaving for the islands about the 20th of March.

RAIN AT SAN JOSE.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 24.—Since last Friday nearly four inches of rain have fallen in this valley, according to the Bank of San Jose's gauge, making a total for the season of 2.13 inches. Last night the rain fell steadily, the precipitation amounting to 1.25. All doubt of a poor season has been removed, and no better prospects for big crops of fruits and cereals have ever been known.

RAIN IN SOUTH.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—Rain began falling again at noon today. The downpour is light but indications are that the country will receive another soaking. Since the storm of Friday and Saturday the weather has been cloudy and threatening and the storm is evidently not yet over.

C. O. BRIGHAM PASSES AWAY AT SON'S HOME.

He Was One of the Pioneer Importing and Commission Merchants of San Francisco.

Calvin O. Brigham, senior member of the well-known importing and commission firm of Brigham, Hoppe & Company, died this morning at the residence of his son, Frank E. Brigham, 1007 Oak street.

He had been in feeble health for some time, owing to extreme age and chronic kidney trouble, but his condition did not become serious till a few days ago. He was taken ill on the 10th instant, but for several days his symptoms were not alarming.

Then he took a turn for the worse, and he gradually weakened till the end came; more because the body was worn out than anything else.

Mr. Brigham has been a prominent merchant in San Francisco since the pioneer days.

His life has been a long and busy one, and he lays it down with an unsullied reputation for integrity and good citizenship.

He was born in the State of New York in 1823, being 79 years, five months and twenty-five days old when he died.

Early in life he removed to Bellows Falls, Vermont, where he gained his first experience in merchandising.

In 1851 he came to California and engaged in business in San Francisco. From that time to the day of his death he was identified with the mercantile life of the city, though he has resided continuously in Oakland since 1863.

For many years he was a partner in the house of Brigham, Whitney & Company.

Of late years the firm has been Brigham, Hoppe & Company, the other members of the firm being Frank E. Brigham and S. H. Green. For some years he has been incapacitated from active business by age and physical weakness.

Mr. Brigham took an active interest in public affairs, but never had any taste for holding office. The only public position he ever held was a member of the commission for widening Telegraph avenue, but that was something merely in the line of his duty as a citizen.

He is survived by his only son, Frank E. Brigham. He leaves no other children. His wife died in 1892.

The funeral will take place from the family residence at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—There was no session of Court today in the trial of Albert T. Patrick. The adjournment was ordered by Recorder Goff in order to permit Fred B. House, one of counsel for the defense, to attend the funeral of his father-in-law.

TILLMAN AND McLAURIN.
Personal encounters in the Senate of the United States have been rarer than in any legislative body in the world, if we except the somnolent British House of Lords, which simply represents class conservatism and possesses none of the characteristics of a popular legislative assembly. But rows and even personal affrays in the House of Commons are not infrequent. In the French Chamber of Deputies, fiery denunciations and personal violence are incidental to the discussion of every dynamic popular question. But the United States Senate holds its temper and maintains its dignity better than any similar body in the world—indeed, there is no body of equal character, ability, potency and prestige in the world.

While the outbreak between the South Carolina Senators was the logical outcome of the fierce factional contest in that State and of the embittered personal feeling between the participants, it is none the less disgraceful. However, the Senate will not proceed to extremities with either Tillman or McLaurin because of recent displays on the floor of a most undignified character. Accounts of the occurrences have been kept out of the newspapers as far as possible, and they have been edited out of the Congressional Record, but the history of the events lives nevertheless.

Senator Hunsbrough called another Senator a liar, and Senator Lodge, one of the most dignified and scholarly men in the Senate, made an excited rush for Senator Teller, and would probably have struck him but for the interposition of other members. All these difficulties relate to the same controversy that precipitated the row between Tillman and McLaurin—the Philippine question. It is evidently a question charged with dynamite, for it never crops up without the lightning beginning to flash.

From the day he entered its doors, Tillman has violated the usages of the Senate. He has a rude eloquence and an unbridled tongue, and he has not spared anybody from his bitter invective. But he has visibly improved since he came to Washington. He is recognized as a forceful, honest man with crude ideas of statesmanship—a good deal of a demagogue, perhaps—but a man of considerable native ability. In South Carolina he is the representative of the farmers and laborers—"the wool hat boys"—although he is a member of the planter class. He led the movement of the common people which broke the domination of the old planter caste, and deprived the Hamiltons, Hughes, Rutlers, Haynes and Pickens of their leadership and power. Under him the poor whites have descended from the hills and taken possession of the reins of government, and the change from the most aristocratic rule in the country to the most democratic was rude and violent.

McLaurin is suffering the usual penalty of men who place themselves in false positions. He has been advocating Republican principles while professing to be a Democrat and holding office as such. He has been steadily voting against the wishes of his constituents who are Bryanite to the core. He is a product of the Crocker empire, but what little Democracy he professes is the dress of the old planter aristocracy—the rest is pure Republicanism. By placing himself in a false position McLaurin has given the blatant and brutal Tillman a tremendous moral advantage. While voting in the Senate to uphold Republican policies and to support the Administration he has been made the dispenser of Federal patronage in South Carolina. The Republican committees have been cast aside to make him the Administration almoner in the State. He has filled the chief offices with men like himself—men who profess to be Democrats yet advocate Republican principles. Yet they are men who have always been in opposition to the Republicans of South Carolina and will not affiliate with them now.

This is the basis of Tillman's charge against McLaurin, the color of which cannot be wiped out by denial. If McLaurin had voted with the Republicans without claiming the Federal patronage of his State he would have been respected by the entire country. As it is, one can see that Tillman has the sympathy of a majority of the Senators. They do not like Tillman's manners and methods, but they have a contempt for his antagonist that they make little attempt to conceal. Even the most stalwart Republicans are shy of his company. They don't like a double-end and his persistent demand for patronage, whether so meant or not, sounds a good deal like a demand for pay.

The San Francisco police have not yet discovered the murderer of Nora Fuller, but two of them came near killing an inoffensive restaurant keeper on his way to open his business. It was 4 o'clock in the morning and he carried a bundle of beefsteaks. The policemen were shrouded in mackintoshes. When they called to him to halt he took them for footpads and ran away. Whereupon they attempted to shoot him. If this thing continues the people of San Francisco will have to organize a vigilance committee to protect themselves from the police as well as the professional criminal element.

THE RAINS HAVE COME.

The heavy rains, though late, dispel the fears that have been expressed of a serious drought. At the present the promise is for an ordinary crop year in California, so far as moisture is concerned, but the grain crop will not be heavy because of the light acreage in the San Joaquin valley. As a matter of fact, California has been steadily declining as a wheat producing State. This does not indicate retrogression, however, but progression, because agriculture is improving, and more lucrative crops than wheat are being grown. Wheat is giving way to fruit and other more remunerative products, while the great wheat ranch with its gang plows and haphazard style of cultivation is being superseded by small farms and a more extensive system of tillage. The change is all for the better. Therefore the decrease in our wheat production is not a cause for lamentation. It would be alarming, however, if it were not more than compensated for in other directions. But the rain, Ah, that means grain and fruit and forage and fat cattle—prosperity. Let us be thankful that the vernal equinox has not disappointed us.

Edwin H. Clough, who has been for several years past, the chief editorial writer on the San Francisco Post, has severed his connection with that paper to become a member of the staff of the Examiner, with which paper he was formerly connected. Mr. Clough is one of the most graceful and accomplished writers on the Coast, possessing a vein of satire and sarcasm that gives pungency and picturesqueness to his style. He has written many clever short stories, a number of which were published in the Argonaut years ago. In his general newspaper work Mr. Clough exhibits facility and versatility.

In Oakland Mr. Clough will be remembered as one of the old TRIBUNE set, conspicuous in the early days of the Athenian Club. He was for several years on the staff of this paper, and did much scintillating work for it. He was afterward an editorial writer on the Times, but more lately has been identified with San Francisco journalism. Whatever paper secures Mr. Clough's services will have the benefit of a bright mind and a gifted pen.

The recent heavy rains are a God send for the city of San Francisco which was threatened with a water famine. Before they came the San Mateo reservoirs were exceedingly low, while the continued dry weather was affecting the flow of Alameda Creek, the waters of which are in litigation. Point Lobos Creek has been condemned as unhealthy, and the same complaint was insistently made regarding Lake Merced. At present the Spring Valley supply is barely equal to the demands on it, because for several years it has not been enlarged in any direction save Alameda Creek, and there only to offset decreases elsewhere. In Oakland we use near four times as much water per capita as they do in San Francisco, but the condition across the bay shows very plainly that water conservation on scientific principles must be practiced in this region in the near future.

ENTER A PROTEST AGAINST A SALOON
The application of Theodor Nunes for a license to conduct a saloon at the corner of Sixteenth and Center streets, has caused considerable stir in that neighborhood.

A newly organized club, known as the Aloha Club, and having its rooms in the vicinity of the proposed saloon site, has registered a protest. The club held a meeting a short time ago and the following resolutions were adopted and have been forwarded to the City Council.

"WHEREAS, The Aloha Club was organized for the purpose of promoting good will and friendship and mutual physical, mental and moral advancement among its members, and also for the purpose of lending its influence to the improvement of the government of the city of Oakland; and

"WHEREAS, In the opinion of the directors of the Aloha Club, voting the sentiment of the members of the club, the granting of a license for the maintenance of a saloon at the corner of Sixteenth and Center streets, in Oakland, which is in the near neighborhood of the Club, would be detrimental to the purpose for which the Club was formed;

"RESOLVED, That we, the directors of the Aloha Club, hereby make formal protest against the granting of said saloon license; and be it also

"RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the City Council."

The "tea" was for the benefit of the Mothers' Club, and the spacious apartments of the Cahill home were appropriately decorated for the occasion with large flags, which were draped artistically in the wide doorways. The dining table was adorned with smiles and chains of red, white and blue. The souvenir napkins were folded to represent colonial cups.

She was accompanied by Miss Edna Drussell, who also played Greig's "Springtime." Mrs. Oliver read a couple of selections entitled "Penelope Penwick's Christmas Dance" and "The One-Legged Gunner."

COURTNEY ON DECK.

HE DISPOSES OF J. L. LYON IN A FORCIBLE MANNER.

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE met Councilman Wm. P. Courtney this morning and asked him what he had to say about the attack on his account, that J. L. Lyon is making on Mayor Barstow. Mr. Courtney said: "I do not care much to enter into a discussion with Lyon on the general ground that when one comes in contact with dogs he is liable to get covered with fleas. Since I have been a Councilman I have tried to do my duty regardless of the whining of characters like this person Lyon."

"I know that in complying with the law and the facts the water schedule is unpopular in certain sources, but not so much so as the costly litigation into which the city was plunged two years ago when the rates were illegally fixed, while if let alone were tolerably satisfactory both to the rate-payers and the water company. Such irresponsible blather-skites as J. L. Lyon helped fan this foolish dilemma in which the city was placed. By the way, who is this J. L. Lyon? Is he the same man who was tried for a felonious charge some time ago in San Francisco, where a poor old lady was the victim? The records of the criminal courts and Lyon's escape owing to the ability of a smart lawyer might prove interesting if looked into."

REV. MILLS WILL NOT RETIRE FROM CHURCH.

Congregation Gives Him Less Work, an Assistant Pastor and He Withdraws His Resignation.

The Rev. Benjamin Fay Mills, pastor of the First Unitarian church, will not retire from the pastorate. His resignation has been withdrawn and he will continue the good work at the church. This course was agreed upon by the members yesterday after a consultation. Everybody is satisfied and the church will move along the same as usual.

The conditions upon which Mr. Mills is to remain are that he shall have an assistant pastor. He will preach one sermon a Sunday for eleven months of the year, and shall receive a salary of $1,200 for his services. The assistant pastor, George W. Fuller, will occupy himself with all the lesser duties of the church and shall be supported by special efforts and those of Mr. Mills, who will take up work in a neighboring locality. The assistant pastor is an Eastern college man, and is already on his way from the East to this Coast.

The real business of the day was begun at the conclusion of Mr. Mills' sermon. When he surrendered the chair to Colonel John P. Irish, president of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Irish said that at the last regular meeting of the congregation it had been decided to adjourn until yesterday, when the special committee, appointed to wait upon Mr. Mills and ask him to reconsider his resignation, should report. Before that matter was brought up, however, he desired to say that at the regular annual meeting and the beginning of the church year, a definite policy had been decided upon in regard to the financial affairs of the church.

"We have decided," he announced, "once for all, that the church shall not place itself in a position where it shall be burdened with debt. What is desired is that the congregation shall take cognizance of this fact. At the beginning of the year we ask of you for the funds that are required to conduct the church for the year; the subscriptions to be paid quarterly. According to you subscribe, so will we act, and after that we will bother no more about money matters. If there are enough funds we shall go ahead, if not, the expenses and the strength of the church must be curtailed.

"The Board of Trustees feel the responsibility of keeping this congregation strong and moving forward. We represent 400 families and in a city of this size there is no small factor. We are to build up this power and we mean that it shall be done."

Mr. Irish further stated that he did not believe Mr. Mills' conclusion or how he would proceed. He said, however, that additional subscriptions were needed to meet the church debt. About $800 had been previously subscribed and he now desired $200 more, so that the Woman's Alliance, which had been contributing so much toward the support of the church, could be free to work in its chosen field. While the blanks were being given out, Mr. Irish further spoke of the plan to organize a men's club in the church and of the calamity that would befall the organization should Mr. Mills resign.

Mr. Mills stepped forward to give his decision. "I am not only surprised," he said, "but deeply touched; for though I appreciated the confidence of the congregation I must confess that this last week has greatly surprised me. It has not only moved me, but I have been melted, I might say, melted by your consideration. As I said, I was absolutely sincere when I took this step and I expressed my mind very fully last Sunday. It is my impression that this vicissitude after the peculiar experiences of my life, I feel that I have a greater goal than used to be the goal that I have set for myself."

"But when a congregation rises up as one man and is so strong in its expression of confidence in me, I cannot but think as I did a week ago, and I am going to stay with you."

Mr. Mills continued: "I may have something better in store for you. It has been my desire that I should have an assistant pastor who could provide for you that which I cannot give, and now that it has been decided we shall have one, I will take the church open when the pastor takes his vacation. There must be some one here to get acquainted with new families and those who come to the church. I want him to attend the funerals that otherwise I would have to conduct. I want him to be a member of the Union Church, and president of the College of Religion and Ethics. I want a man who is in all the country that I know of. He has been out of college three years, and has had seven years' college training. He is now a full-fledged minister in the East. I took the liberty of writing to him two months ago, and after three or four weeks gave him the matter up as impractical, though he signified his willingness to come. The congregation, however, has guaranteed it. The collections shall be his and further deficiency shall be made up from work which I shall pursue in neighboring localities. The young man is Rev. G. W. Fuller, probably George Washington Fuller."

Mr. Irish announced that $500 had been raised by subscription and that a kind friend had sent in $50 more through the church. The president further said that he had wired Mr. Fuller on Thursday and that he had received a telegram read: "Resign tomorrow and leave Boston in March." At the conclusion of the meeting, the church was adjourned and the church had been completely and that now it could go forward with new life.

which has rewarded them since their literary and dramatic advents, attest to their consummate worth.

RAILROAD NEWS FROM WEST OAKLAND YARDS

Electric Lights For Overland Trains— Brotherhood Will Give a Ball—Personal Notes About the Men.

Business activity in the West Oakland yards was confined this week to Australian coal, sugar and lumber. The usual number of cargoes of coal were received from Australia. At the present time this traffic supercedes all others in the volume of business. Four new coal ships, sailing direct from Australia, with an aggregate of 15,000 tons arrived during the week.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS FOR THE OVERLAND TRAINS.

Electrical Engineer Hack has gone East to study the method of lighting trains by electricity. The system has been in vogue on Eastern systems for some time, but has never been introduced on the Coast.

WILLIAM CLARKSON IS HONORED BY COMPANY.

William Clarkson of the freight department, has been honored by the Southern Pacific Company by being placed on what is known as the "record bulletin," which contains the list of heroic deeds performed by the employees of the Southern Pacific Company.

The act which brought Clarkson to the notice of his superiors in railroad circles was the prevention of the explosions of two tanks of naphtha in a freight car at the imminent risk of his life.

A hot box caused the car in which the naphtha was stored to ignite. Before the fire was discovered the greater portion of the tank was in flames. Clarkson recognized the danger which threatened the freight cars adjoining the one on fire, and without a moment's hesitation he sprang into the car and prevented the flames from reaching the tank.

His heroic deed was reported to the higher officials and now his name is to be found upon the roll of honor which the company keeps of those who have performed meritorious deeds.

RAILROAD BROTHERHOOD WILL GIVE GRAND BALL.

Extensive preparations are being made for the grand ball of the United Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, to be given on the 27th instant at Alcatraz Hall. A competent committee has been placed in charge of the arrangements, and an unusually good time is expected. A large number of railroad employees have signified their intention of attending the ball with their wives and sweethearts, and from indications, there will be no lack of congenial spirits to make the affair a complete success.

Appropriate music has been secured and a good program will be rendered.

NEW BAND SAW IS INSTALLED AT SHIPYARD.

A new band saw has been put in operation at the shipyard. Heretofore Foreman Monk and his crew of mechanics have been dependent on the mills of the Southern Pacific Company for their lumber, but now they will be able to supply their own needs.

THE NEW OIL TANK IS NOW BEING FILLED.

The work of filling the large oil tank recently constructed by the Southern Pacific Company, with a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons, was commenced this week. Last Friday nine carloads had been dumped into the tank, but it was hardly perceptible. The work of filling the tank will continue at the rate of five or six carloads a day. After the huge tank has been filled, it is estimated that the consumption of oil will be about 100 cars per week, or about 14,000 barrels.

The tank will not be ready to supply oil to the yards until about April 1. The intention of the company was originally to put the tank into operation March 1, but this was found impossible.

FERRY STEAMER TRANSIT WILL SOON BURN OIL.

Foreman Monk of the shipyards is pushing the work of converting the freight steamer Transit into an oil burner. The new boilers and oil tanks are ready to be put in place.

The Transit will be the fifth steamer owned by the company to be commissioned as an oil burner.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS IN THE YARD WAREHOUSE.

The warehouse of the company at the West Oakland yards has been completely re-modeled and a large stock added. The company carries on hand several thousand dollars' worth of iron and steel stock. This has been augmented by the buying of tools and implements which will be henceforth dispensed from the store.

The tool room's capacity has also been increased.

CONCERT AND DANCE BY LADIES' AUXILIARY.

A concert and dance will be given on February 24 at the Alcatraz Hall by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

A special program has been arranged and every one is promised a treat in the musical and dancing line.

The ladies in charge of the affair have left no stone unturned that would aid in the success of the concert, and from the large number of advance sales of tickets, the affair will be a success from the standpoint of attendance.

Several well-known railroad boys have volunteered their services in the musical line. A number of ladies will also assist in the musical program.

After the conclusion of the musical program, dancing, with appropriate music, will be the order.

The novel Valentine was a masterpiece of the jeweler's art. The heart was beautifully engraved and bore the inscription, "To E. G. from —."

WILL IMPROVE TRAIN SERVICE

MANAGER AGLER TELLS OF CHANGES IN THE HAYWARDS LINE.

Among the important changes in the local train service which have been arranged by James Agler, the new manager of the Southern Pacific Company, is the improvement of the service to Haywards and the building of a spur track into the central part of that town. The Haywards local service is to be improved even before the track into the town is built. The officials of the road are now figuring upon a very early train from Haywards and a special train to connect with the 5:30 boat from San Francisco. This train will run along First street, stop at Broadway and then stop at Thirteenth avenue and every station from that point to Haywards. This train will carry the East Oakland, Twenty-third avenue and Fruitvale local passengers and will land the passengers at home fifteen minutes ahead of the present local train that connects with that boat.

In speaking of the improvements Manager Agler said:

"That track into Haywards will be built, but it will take quite a little money, and when it is constructed we want it so that it will be a decided aid to our suburban service. The details of its construction have not yet been decided upon."

"Some improvements in the suburban service are already being considered, and will include probably three trains from Haywards in the morning, to arrive in San Francisco about 7 o'clock and an equal number at night."

"This service will be inaugurated with the flyer that will connect with the 5:30 boat from San Francisco. This train will be run through to Haywards and will do the East Oakland business from that point, this being the heaviest trip of the day."

"I do not believe some of the people of Oakland exactly understood our plans for this flyer. It was never intended to run in on Seventh street, but on First street. It would be impossible to handle such a train on Seventh street. There will be only one train of that kind at present and that will be the 5:30 boat from San Francisco, but if the service ever demands it more trains of the same kind will be put on."

"We hope to be able to increase the suburban service in and about Oakland just as rapidly as possible. The Berkeley service has been very satisfactory both to us and the people of that section."

"Machinist Joe Eriel has been called to Kansas City on account of the serious illness of his father."

TRANSIT CARS TIED UP DURING NIGHT.

Owing to a breakdown at the powerhouse of the Oakland Transit Company about 11 o'clock last night the electric current was cut off and traffic on all of the street car lines in the city was suspended an hour or more. Belated travelers were compelled to engage cabs or walk through the rain to their homes.

At the offices of the Transit Company information was given out that the breakdown was of but a minor nature.

MERITED ADVANCEMENT.

Mr. E. Bruce Elliott Will Manage One of Goldberg, Bowen & Co's City Stores.

Next month Mr. E. Bruce Elliott will sever his connection with the Oakland branch of Goldberg, Bowen & Company, as he has been promoted to manage one of the company's large stores in San Francisco. Mr. Elliott began his business career with the firm as a messenger in the main office in 1894, and by his adaptability and close attention he received rapid advancement. He came to Oakland nearly four years ago to take charge of the local office, which under his direction has risen from obscurity to a place second only to the principal office across the bay. Mr. Elliott had full control of the company's finances and credit department, and through his energy and untiring efforts he has largely assisted the manager, Edward Beardsley, in putting the Oakland business where it is today. He goes to his new position under a good salary, and with the best wishes of a host of friends.
